Abstract. The first modern university project in the Romanian space regards the engineering education and is the masterpiece of the scholar Gh. Asachi, from Iași. National and European personality, Asachi opened the historical series of the manufacturers of cultural projects. He encompasses, in the same personality, several stages of our modern cultural evolution. The study reconstructs, synthetically, the main moments of the history of engineering education from Iași, starting with the school created by Asachi himself and ending with the Technical University that bears his name. There are reviewed the most significant moments of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, such as the reiteration of the engineering education within the Mihaileanu Academy, of the University of Iași and finally, the starting point of the educational system at the Polytechnic School "Gh. Asachi" University, founded in 1937.

Key words: superior educational school, modernity, engineering, projects visionary, change.
